D. APPLETON & CO.'S NEW BOOKS

A VOYAGE OF CONSOLATION.

By Mrs. E. C. COTES (Sara Jeannette Duncan), author of "A Social Departure," "An American Girl in London," "His Honour, and a Lady," etc. Illustrated. 12mo, cloth, $1.50. "Anyone who has met the touring American will appreciate his picture as painted by Mrs. Cotes. He is amusing, seldom uninteresting."—Chicago Tribune. "Humorous incidents and conversations abound, rendering the perusal of the book a pleasant pastime."—New York Times.

RECENT ISSUES IN

Appletons' Town and Country Library.

THE INCIDENTAL BISHOP.

A Novel. By GRANT ALLEN, author of "This Mortal Coil," etc. No. 238, Appletons' Town and Country Library. 12mo, cloth, $1.00; paper, 50 cents.

Mr. Allen's story opens in Australasia with some stirring pictures of peculiar phases of South Sea life, and the tale is continued in England, which is the scene of various unexpected incidents and some fresh and striking character studies.

A FORGOTTEN SIN.

A Novel. By D. GERARD. No. 237, Appletons' Town and Country Library. 12mo, cloth, $1.00; paper, 50 cents.

An interesting novel is always to be counted upon from this popular author, and in "A Forgotten Sin" she shows herself at her best.

THIS LITTLE WORLD.

A Novel. By D. CHRISTIE MURRAY. No. 236, Appletons' Town and Country Library. 12mo, cloth, $1.00; paper, 50 cents.

Mr. Murray is at his best in this well-designed and thoroughly entertaining story of rural and artistic life.

"The author interests us by the delicacy of his characterizations. . . . It is pleasant to congratulate him."—London Academy.

A Great Historical Novel.

THE DISASTER.

A Romance of the Franco-Prussian War. By PAUL and VICTOR MARGUERITTE. 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

Like Zola's La Débâcle, with which it naturally challenges comparison, Le Désastre has for its theme the Franco-Prussian War. The authors are well equipped for their task. Their father was the cavalry general, Auguste Margueritte, who fell at the battle of Sedan; and the youngest son, Victor, was himself an officer in the French army, but recently abandoned the military career in order to associate himself with his brother in literary work.

"This powerful picture of the fate of the Army of the Rhine, by the sons of one of the generals who did their duty, is among the finest descriptions of war that have been penned."—London Athenæum.

"A strong, a remarkable book. 'The Disaster' is even more overwhelming than Zola's 'La Débâcle.' Zola's soldiers possessed, after all, the untold advantage of their ignorance. But the officers in 'The Disaster' saw everything, understood from the very beginning the immensity of the blunder. Like the spectators of some grim tragedy, they waited and watched for the curtain to fall."—London Speaker.

FRENCH CRITICAL OPINION.

M. Edouard Rod, in the "Gaulois," writes: "A vigorous and healthy book, well thought out, executed with great conscientiousness, with the conscientiousness of writers who know how to decipher the language of occurrences and weigh their words."

M. François Coppée in the "Journal" writes: "Like the fantastic drummer of Raffet, the book of the brothers Margueritte resuscitates the dead of Gravelotte and of Saint-Privat, they rise up in serried columns, armed spectres under phantom flags."

The Macmillan Company's New Novels.

A New Romantic Novel.

The Pride of Jennico.
Cloth, . $1.50.

"An exceptionally clever mixture of wild romance with modern psychology . . . an artistic production and original."—The New York Tribune.
"Told with an intensity of style which almost takes away the breath of the reader."—The Transcript, Boston.

By
AGNES and EGERTON CASTLE.

A Modern Comedy.

The Celebrity.
Cloth, . $1.50.

"It is safe to say that no such an inimitable comedy, in the literary way, has appeared for years. . . . It is the purest, keenest fun."—From LILIAN WHITING's Boston Letter to the Inter-Ocean, Chicago.

By
WINSTON CHURCHILL.

A Study in Modern Sociology.

The Gospel of Freedom.
Cloth, . $1.50.

The appeal of a life of personal independence to the ambitious, eager, restless, artistic, receptive woman of modern American development. There are scenes in Paris, Chicago, and Florence. [Ready next week.]

By ROBERT HERRICK.

A Volume of Soldier Stories.

Southern Soldier Stories.
Cloth, . $1.50.

"A crisp, bright, often thrilling book, which boys especially will delight in. The stories are full of Southern ginger and the roar of battle. . . . If once you begin you will want to read every line of this book."—Education.

By
GEORGE CARY EGGLESTON.

Tales of the West Indian Life.

Where the Trade Wind Blows.
Cloth, . $1.50.

"One of the most original and distinctive of current books. . . . It is a collection of tales descriptive of life in the West Indies. . . . But even the shortest has central idea plot and development; is a compact little drama. We commend this book to any who want something fresh and good in fiction."—The Evening Telegraph, Philadelphia.

By
Mrs. SCHUYLER CROWNINSHIELD.

The Last Volume in Zola's Famous Trilogy of the Three Cities.

Paris.
A Sequel to Lourdes and Rome.

"'Paris' is undoubtedly Emile Zola's greatest achievement. It is an epic, whose power of visualization is tremendous."—The Times, New York.

"Each character stands out clear and distinct, and there are many intensely dramatic scenes and marvellous bits of description."—The New York Herald.

"Not since the publication of 'La Débâcle' has he written anything which approaches his 'Paris' in power and intensity, and it will inevitably take rank among his greatest productions . . . if indeed it does not take precedence over them."—Commercial Advertiser.

NOTES IN SEASON.

ROBERTS BROTHERS will publish at once Prof. William G. Ward's little book entitled "Tennyson's Debt to Environment."

L. C. PAGE & Co., Boston, will publish in May, "Bobbie McDuff," a novel by Clinton Ross, which was published serially in Leslie's Weekly.

THE G. W. DILLINGHAM Co. will publish during the summer "A New Sensation," a new novel by Albert Ross, who has been spending the winter in the West Indies and has entirely recovered his health.

DOUBLEDAY & MCCLURE have just ready "Daniel Webster's Representative Speeches," edited by Bliss Perry, who furnishes a critical introduction to the speeches, which include "Adams and Jefferson" and "The Reply to Hayne," issued as one of the Little Masterpieces; also, "A Minister of the World," by Caroline Atwater Mason, a new instalment in the Ladies' Home Journal Library of Fiction, illustrated with photogravures by W. T. Smedley.

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY will publish in a few weeks Mrs. Murray Macdonald's translation of "Karl Marx and the Close of His System," a criticism, by Eugene von Böhm-Bawerk, Austrian Minister of Finance, and honorary professor of Political Economy in the University of Vienna. They have nearly ready "Nature Study in Elementary Schools, a Reader, Nature Myths, Stories and Poems," by Mrs. L. L. M. Wilson, of the Philadelphia Normal School, a book adapted to second and third year pupils.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS have just issued "A History of the English Poor Law," in two volumes, by Sir George Nicholls, covering from 724 to 1853, first published in 1860, which now contains the author's revisions and a biography by H. G. Willink; "Reminiscences of the Old Navy," by Edgar Stanton Maclay, taken from the journals and private papers of Captain Edward Trenchard and Rear Admiral Stephen Decatur Trenchard; and "Lost Man's Lane," by Anna Katharine Green, dealing with a second episode in the life of Amelia Butterworth, first introduced in "That Affair Next Door."

THE J. B. LIPPINCOTT COMPANY have just issued "Madam of the Ivies," by Elizabeth Phipps Train, author of "A Social Highwayman," said to be written with the old dash and spirit; a second edition of the exceedingly successful book, "Heirlooms in Miniatures," by Annie Hollingsworth Wharton, with a chapter on miniature painting by Emily Drayton Taylor; and "Ray's Recruit," a new novel in The Lotus Library, by Captain Charles King, who again places his story in the Great West, and shows us plenty of exciting action in soldiers' quarters, and also tells some delightful love-stories.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS have just issued "Through South Africa," by Henry M. Stanley, consisting of the letters written to South Africa, a journal exclusively devoted to matters relating to the region whence it derives its title. These letters have been revised and a new introductory chapter has been added. Also just ready are "Music: How It Came to Be What It Is," by Hannah Smith, a little book founded on various courses of lectures which the writer has given before audiences of students and amateurs; "Sermons to Young Men," by Henry Van Dyke, many of which were preached in the college chapels of Harvard, Yale, and Princeton; and "First Lessons in Linear Perspective," by Frederick R. Honey. A collection of five short stories, by Joseph Conrad, is brought out under the title "Songs of Unrest."

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.*

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. c. after the date indicates that the book is copyrighted; if the copyright date differs from the imprint date, the year of copyright is added. Books of foreign origin of which the edition (annotated, illustrated, etc.) is entered as copyright, are marked c. ed.; translations, c. tr.; n. p., in place of price, indicates that the publisher makes no price, either net or retail, and quotes prices to the trade only upon application.

A colon after initial designates the most usual given name, as: A.: Augustus; B.: Benjamin; C.: Charles; D.: David; E.: Edward; F.: Frederic; G.: George; H.: Henry; I.: Isaac; J.: John; L.: Louis; N.: Nicholas; P.: Peter; R.: Richard; S.: Samuel; T.: Thomas; W.: William.

Sizes are designated as follows: F. (folio: over 30 centimeters high); Q. (4to: under 30 cm.); O. (8vo: 25 cm.); D. (12mo: 20 cm.); S. (16mo: 17½ cm.); T. (24mo: 15 cm.); Tl. (32mo: 12½ cm.); Fe. 48mo: 10 cm.). Sq., obl., nar., designate square, oblong, narrow books of these heights.

Cleveland Public Library, ed. Cumulative index to a selected list of periodicals: authors, subjects, titles, reviews, portraits. Second annual volume, 1897. Cleveland, O., The Public Library, [for sale by The Helman-Taylor Co.] 1898. 6+635 p. Q. cl., subs. for year, incl. present vol., $5. [946]

This, the second annual number of the Cumulative Index, includes one hundred periodicals. This is thirty more than were indexed in 1896, and there are six hundred and thirty-five pages against the three hundred and eighty-four of the first volume. This is accounted for not only by the greater number of periodicals indexed, but by the greater number of references. Book reviews and portraits have received special attention. The plan of publication was changed during the year to form two series; the first ended in August, the second in November, and these with the material from the additional periodicals compose the present volume.

Conrad, Jos. The children of the sea: a tale of the forecastle. N. Y., Dodd, Mead & Co., 1897. c. '97. 2+217 p. D. cl., $1.25. [948]

The scene is confined entirely to the forecastle of an English ship on its long voyage home from Bombay. There is no woman in the story, and no love-making—the narrative consisting of a succession of episodes, humorous and tragical, which illustrate the human nature of the sailor man. A negro dying of consumption is the central figure. The book is published in England under the title of "The nigger of the Narcissus."

Gissing, G. Rob. Charles Dickens: a critical study. N. Y., Dodd, Mead & Co., 1898. c. 4+318 p. D. bds., $2. [962]

The writer of "Sleeping fires," "Unclassed," and "The whirlpool" sums up the work of Dickens by dividing it and looking at it from twelve points of view: His times; the growth of man and writer; the storyteller; art, veracity, and moral purpose; characterization; satire portraiture; women and children; humor and pathos; style; the radical; comparisons (with Zola, Balzac, Victor Hugo, Dostoevsky); the latter years. The author takes for granted a thorough acquaintance with Dickens in his reader, and discusses plots and characters and scenes as though they were realities. He specially points out the unflinching optimism of Dickens, in which he differed from all the great realists who have preceded and followed him.

The story of a young American, who at twenty-five finds himself almost without means, through the financial losses of an old uncle, who had been a father to him. In a moment of desperation he enlists in a United States Cavalry regiment. The ensuing events take place in the soldiers' quarters of a western camp, where there are some love making, some gossip, and an occasional sortie to fight the Indians.

Lawyers' reports annot. Book 38; all current cases of general value and importance, with full annot.; Burdett A. Rich, ed., and H. P. Farnham, asst. Rochester, N. Y., The Lawyers' Co-op. Pub. Co., 1898. c. 911 p. O. shp., $5. [972]

Le Gallienne, R. The romance of Zion chapel. N. Y., J. Lane, 1898. c. 5+297 p. D. cl., $1.50. [973]

The young pastor of a Wesleyan Methodist chapel, situated in the midst of "a very old, very ignorant, very sooty, hard-hearted, stony-streeted, meanly grim, little provincial town" of England, is the central figure of the romance. He had come to New Zion in response to its advertised need for "new blood." His love for two women is the subject; the story ending in a tragedy. The chief attractions of the work are the author's dainty, graphic style, his clever analysis and delineation of character, and his subtle humor.

"There are many acts of heroism, many thrilling episodes, and many romances wrapped up in the private lives of our officers which have not been made public, and are known only to a few of their most intimate messmates. The records left by the two Trenchards, covering eighty years of service in the United States navy, are singularly rich in romance and in details of historic interest. It is, in truth, an 'inside history' of the navy for the period covered."—Preface.

Redway, Jacques W., and Hinman, Russell. Natural advanced geography. N. Y., American Book Co., [1898.] c. 160 p. il. maps, F. (Natural geographies.) cl., $1.25. [996]

The present volume, with the elementary book of this series, forms a complete school course in the study of geography as recommended by the Committee of Fifteen. Throughout the "Natural" series the central thought is man in his relations to his physical environment, but the plan of treatment is essentially different in the two books. In the Elementary the young pupil is led to observe the peculiarities of man and nature about his own home. This Advanced Geography, however, treats first of the earth as a whole, and of the general manner in which its physical features, its plants, its animals, and its human inhabitants have reached their present condition and distribution through centuries of change and development. Collateral reading is suggested at the end of each section.

science. N. Y., Dodd, Mead & Co., 1898. c. 3-292 p. D. cl., $1.25. [997]

The author is a scientist and a believer in conditional immortality; his book being an able defence and advocacy of this doctrine. The argument is offered under the following headings: Life: Kingdoms of life; The spiritual kingdom; Entering the kingdom; Immortality; The sin against life; The way of life; God's sovereignty and man's agency; Cause: Free will; The revelation of life; The necessity of faith; The mystery of revelation; The reasonableness of the revelation of life.

Amelia Butterworth will be remembered as the astute woman who assisted the detective Gryce in unravelling the mystery in "That affair next door." Her talents are again put to use to trace the culprit who was responsible for the mysterious disappearance of five human beings in Lost Man's Lane. Suspicion fell upon the children of an old school friend. Amelia visits them in their mysterious house in Lost Man's Lane, and by day and night watching, assisted by the ubiquitous Mr. Gryce, the mystery is finally solved in a most ingenious and totally unexpected manner.

Wood, H: Victor Serenus: a story of the Pauline era. Bost., Lee & Shepard, 1898. c. 8+502 p. D. cl., $1.50. [1026]

Opens in the ancient city of Tarsus, at about the middle of the first decade of the Christian era. The life of Saulus Paulus, afterward St. Paul, is traced from his birth, through his preachings in Jerusalem, his persecutions of the followers of Jesus, his final conversion, his trial in Rome, and his martyrdom. Victor Serenus is a contemporary and friend of Saulus, and goes through the same mental transformations. The story offers a vivid picture of the manners, customs, superstitions, etc., of the times!

BUSINESS NOTES.

AKRON, O.—At a meeting of the creditors' representatives of the Werner Printing Company, held March 16, it was authentically announced that the present company would remain in existence. The rumor that P. E. Werner would be removed as manager was also flatly denied. The company will continue to be run under the receiver until an advisory committee, which was appointed at the meeting, can formulate plans and determine what means to adopt for the future. The committee appointed is as follows: Messrs. Crouse, of Akron; Schenk, of New York; Wennan, of Boston; Banigan, of Providence; Stuart, of Chicago, and Parmelee and Sullivan, of Cleveland.

GALVESTON, TEX.—John R. Pettit, bookseller, has given a chattel mortgage and conveyed his stock to Thomas F. Lawson, trustee, for the benefit of creditors, to the amount of $3678.

JEFFERSON, MO.—Henry J. Lartonoix, bookseller, has been succeeded by Lartonoix & Wallendorf.

MILWAUKEE, WIS.—We regret to learn that C. N. Caspar, one of the most enterprising booksellers in the country, has been obliged to make an assignment to Otto Gallun in favor of his creditors. It appears that the failure is due to the collapse of H. H. Zahn & Co., printers, of Milwaukee, for whom Mr. Caspar endorsed a number of notes. Nothing definite is known as to what will be the outcome in regard to Mr. Caspar's business, but there seems to be reason to believe that matters can be satisfactorily arranged so that it can be continued without interruption.

NEW YORK CITY.—Fred. E. Luhden has retired from the firm of Albert Burnton & Co., of the West Side Book Store, 49 Sixth Avenue. Mr. Burnton has assumed the liabilities of the old firm and will carry on the business alone.

NEW YORK CITY.—The G. W. Dillingham Co. have removed from 33 W. 23d Street to Jefferson Building at 119-121 W. 23d Street.

NEW YORK CITY.—Wm. Helburn, publisher, and importer of architectural and art industrial books, announces the removal of his business to 123 Fifth Avenue.

NEW YORK CITY.—M. F. Mansfield, 22 East 16th Street, will carry a full line of the publications of Richard G. Badger & Co., of Boston.

PORTLAND, ORE.—Stuart & Thompson have sold their stock of miscellaneous books to J. R. Ewing, cor. 4th and Yamhill Streets.

AUCTION SALES.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

APRIL 2, 1898.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter, whether for the reading-matter columns or advertising pages, should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Books for the "Weekly Record," as well as all information intended for that department, must reach this office by Tuesday morning of each week.

SUBSCRIPTION-BOOK PUBLISHING METHODS.

THE subscription-book business is a distinct branch of the book trade, and is usually carried on as such exclusively, or, at least, entirely independent of other branches in which a firm may be engaged. Subscription-books are considered to be such publications as are sold by agents directly to the bookbuying public, and for which these agents solicit subscribers by means of canvassing. It is implied that such books will not be put in the hands of the bookseller, and that they cannot be had in bookstores.

In this country two features prevail as to the general nature or character of subscription-books. The first class comprises the very choicest works issued from the American press, expensive or medium in price, which the publishers have special reasons for not selling through the trade—i.e., the publishers expect to increase the sale of these publications by pushing them through the aid of a corps of well-trained and experienced canvassers.

The second class consists chiefly of popular books, medium or low in price, that very frequently have little merit in reference to their contents or "get-up," calculated for the great multitude, who, it is believed, seldom or never visit a bookstore, and who could not be reached effectively except through personal solicitation by agents.

Subscription-book publishers, as a rule, take every precaution that their books, at least when first issued, shall not be handled by booksellers, or shall not be found for sale in bookstores, in order to give their agents the prestige of claiming that the particular book they sell is not for sale in local stores, and can only be had through them. However, most of these publishers begin to sell their productions to the trade as soon as the novelty is worn off. This is particularly the case with popular books. Publishers of the better grade of books, those which have an intrinsic value, in many instances follow the practice of allowing to local booksellers a commission for such subscriptions as they may obtain; but the publishers prefer to forward the book direct to the address of the subscriber, and to collect the amount due through their agents.

Few, if any, of the better class of subscription books are ever found in bookstores. Dealers in second-hand books, however, very often have copies (or know where to procure them) of all such or similar works soon after their appearance. Publishers cannot prevent their subscribers from selling their copies, for one reason or another, to dealers, who will offer these copies, as a matter of course, at a reduced price. A system of numbering each copy of subscription books, as they leave the bindery, has been adopted by leading subscription-book publishers—an arrangement which enables the publisher to trace the agent who sold it, and to what subscriber the book was originally sold. This method makes it possible for the publisher to determine, without going to much trouble, whether an agent has broken his contract and sold copies of the book in question to dealers, allowing them some discount.

Very often the publishers overestimate the demand for a certain book, and print more copies than the public will buy. In such instances the surplus of stock is unloaded, through auction sales or other means, on the general book trade, or the copies that are practically dead stock are sold in lump to some prominent newspaper or magazine, to be utilized as premiums. As a very conspicuous example of this kind may be pointed out the memoir literature of the late war. "General Grant's Memoirs" had probably the largest sale of any subscription work ever issued from the American press. Over 650,000 copies, it is stated, were sold. But in time the sale dropped suddenly, and the large remainder of the work was sold, together with other memoirs—by Generals Sheridan and McClellan, and others—to an enterprising magazine, which offered each of the following memoirs of generals to its subscribers for 70 cents a copy: Grant's, 2 vols., subscription, $7; Sherman's, 2 vols., subscription, $5; McClellan's, 1 vol., subscription, $3.75; Sheridan's 2 vols., subscription, $6, and R. E. Lee's, 1 vol., subscription, $3.75. Other cases will no doubt be fresh in the reader's mind without having them pointed out here.

The successful subscription-book agents who canvass for the better class of subscription-books are, as a rule, gentlemen of culture and refinement, and of good address. Some of them find their calling very remunerative, often yielding them from $150 to $500 per month. These agents are doing missionary work by introducing literature, i.e., good books and works of art, in circles that would never dream of buying these or similar works in a bookstore. Many canvassers for popular or useful works often introduce the first books to the home of the mechanic or farmer, and create a taste for reading among people, who have perhaps paid no attention to books since their school days. In the sparsely-inhabited districts of the Wild West the book agent becomes in fact the pioneer of literature and science, as the people inhabiting those sections of the country have no other means of getting books or of becoming acquainted with them. Hundreds of copies of a book, be it good, bad, or indifferent, are not infrequently sold in one county to people who never saw a bookstore, nor ever ordered a volume through a book-dealer to be sent to them by mail.

On the other hand, much evil is brought about by unscrupulous publishers, through the issue of so-called subscription-books, which have nothing whatever about them to excuse their existence, and which are not worth the paper, poor as that may be, they are printed on. Some of these modern literary (?) productions, usually printed on a pink tinted paper, and still more defaced by the silliest steel engravings (after the pattern of some old fashion magazine or "annual gift-book" in vogue about seventy-five years ago), are utterly worthless, if not worse. They dwell chiefly on moral conduct—a certain kind of so-called Christian religion; manners; Indian stories; history of wild men and beasts; life among the Mormons, or in convents; etiquette; how to get and keep a husband [or wife], as the case may be; The Hidden Treasure; The Golden Censer; Royal Path to Happiness, etc. These themes are generally treated in a wishy-washy, goody-goody or sensational if not vicious manner, that oftener does more harm to the reader than it enlightens him on these subjects. This class of books, however, it is fair to say, is rapidly going out of existence. The public has so often been cheated in purchasing, at a high price, valueless truck from agents, that for some time past a reaction has indeed been noticeable, and everybody is more careful in buying. A publisher who desires to be absolutely certain that his productions will find a market must at present offer something that is worth having, and at a lower price than could be formerly asked.

The success of a subscription book publishing firm does not so much depend on the merits of its books, or their "get-up," i.e., the style of printing or binding, or quality of paper, as it does upon its manager's knack of selecting and retaining such agents as are particularly fit to sell books on the subscription plan. A good agent can sell almost any book. There are many people who have been successful in business and who have money enough to enable them to indulge in the luxury of purchasing books, either for amusement or instruction. If these are approached by a persuasive agent, they are apt to be seized with a desire for books, and consequently give the agent an order, vaguely hoping that in this way they may be doing something for their "neglected education." These people are seldom or never seen inside of a bookstore, nor have they any idea of what books would be suitable for them, and know nothing about the prices, editions, binding, printing, etc., of books. They may perhaps be familiar with the more famous names in literature, such as Shakespeare, Byron, Burns, Walter Scott, Thackeray, Dickens, George Eliot, Bulwer, etc., and will buy these works in any editions offered to them through canvassers. These editions are frequently gotten up in large clumsy octavo volumes, poorly printed on spongy paper, and in the dullest binding imaginable, for which the subscribers will pay double the price at which neat, handy editions can be had in any local bookstore. An Eastern subscription house, that has more than thirty branch offices throughout the country, and employs several hundred canvassers, is at this moment putting on the market editions of the best authors, which answer the description above mentioned very closely. Nevertheless, this firm sells a large quantity of these very editions at a high price, for the simple reason that their manager evidently understands "the ropes." Being ignorant that neat and cheap editions can be had at the bookstore, the public pays an extraordinary price for inferior editions of standard works, because the subscription-book publisher pays his agents a large commission for presenting them at the homes of the bookbuyer.

Other important subscription books, besides the standard authors, are the following: Bibles and religious works in general; scientific and domestic medical works; receipt books; legal advisers, or everybody's lawyers; social and business forms; biographies; histories; war books; travels; works of art; wit and humor; encyclopædias; dictionaries, etc. Nine-tenths of all large family Bibles are sold through canvassers. Valuable scientific treatises and monographs, which otherwise might never be printed, are also published by subscription. Local poets very often find the subscription plan the only possible means of delivering their immortal writings to posterity.

THE FIRST ENGLISH TRANSLATION OF GRIMM'S TALES.

DR. O. HARTWIG, the editor of the Centralblatt für Bibliothekswesen, published by O. Harrassowitz, of Leipzig, contributes to a recent issue of that valuable magazine an article on the first English translation of the brothers Grimm's "Kinder und Haus Märchen," in which he publishes interesting letters from the translator, Edgar Taylor, and Sir Walter Scott, Jacob and Wilhelm Grimm, and G. F. Benecke. The letters from the brothers Grimm were given to Dr. Hartwig during a recent stay in Florence by Jessie, Edgar Taylor's still surviving daughter, and widow of Karl Hillebrand. Those of Benecke, Scott, and Taylor to the brothers Grimm were received from their relative, Dr. Hermann Grimm. Scott's letter is specially interesting as showing his high appreciation of those simple German tales and of Taylor's translation: "When my family were at the happy age of being auditors of fairy tales I very often endeavored to translate them in such an extempore manner as I could, and was gratified by the pleasure which the German fictions seemed to convey. In memory of which our old family cat still bears the foreign name of Hintze, which so often occurs in these little narratives. . . . Independently of the curious circumstances that such tales should be found existing in very different countries and languages, which argues a greater poverty of human invention than we would have expected, there is also a sort of wild fairy interest in them which makes me think them fully better adapted to awaken the imagination and soften the heart of childhood than the good-boy stories which have been in later years composed for them. In the latter case their minds are, as it were, put into the stocks like their feet at the dancing school, and the moral always consists in good moral conduct being crowned with temporal success. Truth is, I would not give one tear shed over 'Little Red Riding-Hood' for all the benefit to be derived from a hundred histories of Tommy Goodchild."

Edgar Taylor was the fifth son of Samuel Taylor, of Norfolk, and a descendant of Dr. John Taylor, of Norwich (the "Athens of England in the 18th century), the author of a famous Hebrew Concordance. He was born in Banham, Norfolk, January 28, 1793. In 1814 he went to London, and three years later opened a law office in partnership with Robert Roscoe, the biographer of Lorenzo di Medici and Leo x. The first volume of his translation of the "German Popular Stories" was published by C. Baldwin in 1823, and the second volume by James Robins in 1826, both with illustrations by the translator's friend, George Cruikshank. These illustrations, in the simple directness and effectiveness of their execution, and in their fertile and unencumbered fancy, rank as the artist's masterpieces. These volumes have become exceedingly scarce, and have in late years commanded as high a price as £65.

Sotheby, Wilkinson & Hodge, of London, in June, 1897, catalogued a number of first editions of this translation in the library of H. W. Bruton, whose collections of Cruikshankiana was remarkably complete. We reprint the items as a guide to collectors:

No. 182 Grimm (M. M.) German Popular Stories, translated from the Kinder und Haus

Märchen, collected by M. M. Grimm, 2 vol. First edition. C. Baldwin, 1823, and James Robins, 1826.

This is probably the finest copy extant of the most highly prized of all G.[eorge] C.[ruikshank]'s works. Vol. I is in the original illustrated boards. Vol. II is in the original cloth, with proof impressions of the plates on india paper—the ordinary copies of vol. II were issued in pink boards. Both vols. are wonderfully fresh and clean. An error on the vignette title of vol. I shows it to be of the earliest issue. The "a" in Märchen is not modified but is printed Marchen, the error being corrected in the later issue of the first edition. It is unquestionably an earlier issue of vol. I than that in which the india plates appeared, as all the latter have the error corrected. The second state of the title-page and also the title of the 1834 edition of vol. I are loosely inserted. Each vol. is enclosed in a brown morocco case, satin lined.

No. 183 Grimm. German Popular Stories, another copy, 2 vol. First edition, in the original boards as issued, uncut; ib. 1823-26.

These vols. are in exceptionally fine condition, and vol. I is the earliest issue with the error on the vignette title.

No. 184 Grimm. German Popular Stories, vol. I only, second issue of first edition, with the error on title-page corrected; ib. 1826.

In this later issue the list of plates on page 218 is omitted, and the note to the preface, page VII "We have another popular song, etc.," is placed first, whereas in the early issues it appears as the last note.

No. 185 Grimm. German Popular Stories, 2 vol. original cloth. I: Robins & Sherwood; Gilbert & Piper, 1834.

This edition was issued with transfers on stones from the original plate. The vols. are clean as when first issued.

No. 186 Grimm. German Popular Stories with introduction by J. Ruskin, Large Paper, half roxburgh; J. C. Hotten, n. d.

No. 187 Grimm. German Popular Stories, Proof Etchings comprising a complete set on india paper, illustrating vol. I, together with duplicates of 9 of the etchings in early states including the vignette title before letters, being the only plate in this state, known—also a set of proofs on india paper in early states of the 10 etchings illustrating vol. II. The plates attached to hinged sunk mounts and handsomely bound in green morocco super extra, g. e. by Riviere. 1823-26.

The early states were from the artist's own collection and are unique. Mr. Ruskin, writing of these etchings, says: "They are unrivalled in masterfulness of touch since Rembrandt—in some qualities of delineation unrivalled even by him."

No. 188 Grimm. Vieux Contes pour l'Amusement des Grands et des Petits Enfants, ornés de 12 gravures comiques, half bound. Paris, A. Boulland, 1830.

This is "the impudent little volume" referred to by Hotten in the preface to his re-issue of Grimm and contains the copies by Tardieu (issued as his own production) of G. C.'s illustrations to the first series.

Taylor also published (in 1825) a translation of the German minnesingers under the title of "The Lays of the Minnesingers or German Troubadours of the 12th and 13th Centuries"; "The Book of Rights, or, Constitutional Acts and Parliamentary Proceedings" (London, A. Maxwell, 1833); "Master Wace's Chronicle of the Norman Conquest, from the 'Roman de Rou,' translated with the notes and illustrations, by E. T." (London, Pickering, 1837); and in 1839 a collection of Grimm's popular tales under the title of "Gammer Grethel from Grimm and others, translated by Taylor."

After a twelve years' struggle with a painful disease Taylor died August 19, 1839.

INJUNCTION OBTAINED BY HARPER & BROS. VS. HOLMAN & CO. REMOVED.

JUDGE EDWARD G. BRADFORD filed an opinion in the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, March 28, reversing the decision of the United States Circuit Court under which there had been granted a preliminary injunction restraining A. J. Holman & Co. from the making of an alleged infringement on Harper & Brothers' copyrighted book by Dr. Nansen relating to arctic explorations. The text of the opinion is as follows:

"This is an appeal from an interlocutory decree awarding a preliminary injunction restraining the defendants below, appellants [A. J. Holman & Co.] 'from directly or indirectly advertising, offering to sell, selling or otherwise disposing of any books, either in the English language or in the Norwegian language, which are named, advertised, or offered for sale in such manner as to indicate that they are the books printed or published by the complainant [Harper & Brothers]; and also from printing upon or using in connection with any books the words 'The Fram Expedition. Nansen in the Frozen World,' or any similar title or combination of words, or any imitation of the name of the complainant's books; and from in these ways and in any other way, form or manner whatever, infringing upon or interfering with the rights and business of the complainant in the premises. The complainant's books referred to consist of an English translation of an account of the recent Norwegian polar expedition conducted by Dr. Fridtjof Nansen, composed by him mainly, if not wholly, in the Norwegian language, and an appendix containing an English translation of the report of Captain Otto Sverdrup relating to the drifting of the steamer Fram, composed by the latter in the Norwegian and translated into the English language. The complainant claims that it duly obtained copyright in and to the above work for the United States February 8, 1897, and that it was put on the market in March of the same year, all of the requirements of the law relating to copyright having been complied with. The cause of controversy between the parties was the publication, in both the Norwegian and English languages, and sale by A. J. Holman & Co., of which firm the appellants are survivors, during and after June, 1897, of a certain book, the composition of which need not be here stated with any particularity of detail. It is sufficient to say that it contains part of the same, or of substantially the same, literary matter found in the complainant's book, also a number of portraits and pictorial illustrations similar to those made use of by the complainant in its book, and accounts of sundry arctic expeditions, prior to Dr. Nansen's polar voyage, to which reference is also made in the complainant's book.

"Although the complainant in its bill deals largely with the question of infringement by the defendants of rights claimed to have been secured to the former by copyright, we, like the learned judge below, are not satisfied that the defendants were not at liberty to make use of the text, portraits, and pictorial illustrations contained in their book by way of publication and sale; and, therefore, for the purpose of disposing of this appeal it must be assumed that the defendants possessed that right. The injunction was based upon supposed unfair competition in trade by the defendants in putting their book on the market. It is a wholesome doctrine that equity will restrain unfair competition in trade; but it should be applied with caution, lest, through possible misapplication, healthful and honorable competition be defeated. Particularly is this true with respect to literary, historical, and scientific works. The complainant was not entitled to a monopoly in the subject of arctic explorations; nor had it an exclusive right to publish and sell books relating to Nansen's polar expedition. That subject was open to the world. Nor had the complainant an exclusive right, as against the defendants, to the use of the words 'The Fram Expedition. Nansen in the Frozen World,' or any of them. There can be little doubt that Nansen's exploits served to kindle popular interest in arctic explorations. In fact the record discloses that they were the proximate cause of the publication by the defendants of their book. But this circumstance does not in the least militate against good faith or fair dealing on their part. It appears that months before Nansen began to write an account of the expedition the defendants had determined to publish a book on that and kindred subjects. Nor does the appearance or title of the defendants' book disclose any intent to indulge in unfair competition with the complainant. Certainly the difference between the two books is obvious to any ordinary customer of such works. The complainant's book is in two volumes containing respectively 587 and 714 pages, and is bound in brown cloth. The defendants' book is in one volume, containing, in the English edition, 531 pages, and in the Norwegian edition 524 pages, and is bound in blue cloth in both editions. The complainant's book contains on the outside cover a circular figure enclosing the words, 'Farthest North. Nansen,' and on the inside title-page the words and figures: 'Farthest North. Being the Record of a Voyage of Exploration of the Ship Fram, 1893-96, and of a Fifteen Months' Sleigh Journey by Dr. Nansen and Lieut. Johansen. By Dr. Fridtjof Nansen, with an appendix by Otto Sverdrup, Captain of the Fram. About 120 full-page and Numerous Text Illustrations. 16 colored Plates in facsimile from Dr. Nansen's Own Sketches, etched Portrait, Photogravures, and 4 Maps. In Two Volumes, Vol. 1. New York. Harper & Brothers, Publishers, 1897.' The second volume is like the first, both in the outside cover and title and inside title-page, except that it is marked 'Vol. 2' instead of 'Vol. 1.'

"The defendants' book contains on the outside cover the picture of a ship in the ice, with a flag on her foremast bearing the word 'Fram,' with a polar bear in the foreground, and the words, in the English edition, 'The Fram Expedition. Nansen in the Frozen World. Including earlier Arctic explorations.' On the inside title-page of the English edition are the words and figures, 'The Fram Expedition. Nansen in the Frozen World. Preceded by a Biography of the Great Explorer and copious Extracts from Nansen's 'First Crossing of Greenland.' Also an account by Eivind Astrup, of Life Among People near the Pole, and his Journey Across Northern Greenland with Lieut. R. E. Peary, U.S.N. Arranged and Edited by S. L. Berens, Cand. Phil. Followed by a Brief History of the Principal Earlier Arctic Explorations, from the Ninth Century to the Peary Expedition, including those of Cabot, Frobisher, Bering, Sir John Franklin, Kane, Hayes, Hall, Nordenskjöld, Nares, Schwatka, De Long, Greely, and others. By John E. Read, Assistant Editor of the "Columbian Encyclopedia." Profusely illustrated. Philadelphia, Pa. A. J. Holman & Co. Publishers. 1897. The Norwegian edition of the defendants' book contains on its cover and inside title-page words in that language corresponding with the words on the cover and inside title-page of the English edition. The complainant's book in two volumes sells at $10, and that of the defendants at $2. It is evident that the two books are calculated respectively to meet the demands of different classes of purchasers. There is nothing deceptive in the cover, outside title, or title-page of the defendants' book. Those titles, taken in conjunction, are fairly descriptive of the subject matter of the volume. They radically differ from the outside title and title-page of the complainant's book. Comparing the two works, we are unable to perceive that any ordinary customer of such books possessing common intelligence should, in the absence of actual fraud practiced upon him, mistake the one for the other, without gross carelessness on his part. The answer expressly denies fraud and unfair competition. It is a rule, subject to few, if any, exceptions, that a preliminary injunction should not be awarded on ex parte affidavits, unless in a clear case. This rule has full application in a case like the present, where, though the bill should ultimately be dismissed, great damage would result from such an injunction to the standing and business of a book publishing house. If there be any substantial doubt as to the right to a preliminary injunction in such a case, it should be refused. In the present state of the proofs the court below was not justified in holding that the defendants have been guilty of unfair competition in trade. Consequently, the decree for a preliminary injunction must be reversed and the injunction dissolved."

A WARNING TO UNDERSSELLERS.

MR. M'GEE, a bookseller of Dublin, distributes a printed leaflet headed "A Sad Warning." The first portion of this leaflet consists of the obituary notice of one Alexander Brown, a bookseller of Edinburgh, who was the first in that city to allow the discount of 3d. in the shilling. The evils of competition, it seems, left him in the end entirely dependent upon charity; and Mr. M'Gee takes this opportunity to cite his case as a warning.

"This melancholy ending (says the Dublin tradesman) of a very busy and arduous life ought to prove a warning to those booksellers who have foolishly adopted the insane custom of selling books without profit, i.e., allowing threepence in the shilling discount (and for which the public gives them small credit). To this system there can be but the same sad termination as in the case of the late lamented Mr. Alexander Brown."

Mr. M'Gee, it appears, will not allow the discount, and the leaflet is his apologia.

WILLIAM MCLENNAN'S DEFENCE.

THE charges of plagiarism brought by T. G. Marquis in the Bookman, against William McLennan, for his unacknowledged use of an original memoir as the material for his story, "Spanish John," were summarized in our last issue. In the current number of the Bookman Mr. McLennan presents a defence and explanation of the charge. He states that the original manuscript of the tale contains a preface "carefully acknowledging every source from which I drew the facts woven into the story," but that this preface was not required for the serial publication in Harper's Monthly, and that in pressure of other work its insertion was overlooked when the story was revised for book form; "in any future edition such a preface will appear." Regarding the use of Col. M. M'Donell's memoir, Mr. McLennan states that it "is not by any means the bibliographical rarity that Mr. Marquis believes"; that a number of copies exist; that it is familiar to students of Canadian history; and that "surely, if any printed matter could be looked upon as 'material' this was such." The proportion of literal extracts from the original memoir used in "Spanish John" Mr. McLennan at first says "do not amount to more than one-tenth of the matter used," though he later says, "by the most liberal construction of what constitutes a literal extract, the total material used in unaltered form will be found to form not more than one-fifth of the whole." The incidents in the story, he states, were taken not only from M'Donell's memoir, but from Père Labat, O'Callaghan, and other chroniclers of the period, and used "with or without alterations," to suit the story-teller's purpose, and he cites the creation of the two characters of Father O'Rourke and Captain Creach as proof of originality.

The charge and its defence raise a nice question of literary ethics; but it may be doubted if Mr. McLennan's explanation serves also as a justification.

COMMUNICATIONS.

UNION LIBRARY ASSOCIATION EXPLAINS.

NEW YORK, March 21, 1898.

To the Editor of The Publishers' Weekly.

DEAR SIR: Referring to the article in THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY of March 19, from one W. B. Clarke (no address), we beg to say that we suspected duplicity on the part of Clarke's "cat's-paw," a man by the name of Lane, from Brookline, Mass., and shaped our replies accordingly. Needless to say, the list sent him is not the correct one. The correct list may be seen, however, at our office by anyone who has not an underhanded scheme on foot and will take the trouble to call.

We expected antediluvian booksellers to howl, because we have money, nerve, and enterprise enough to do some advertising. If they would do the same thing they would not have so much time to work underhanded schemes to get information and get up scurrilous articles.

On a previous occasion we said we desired no controversy with anyone, but if it is forced upon us we are ready for it. It is utterly absurd for this man Clarke to say that the books listed by us are of the "cheap and nasty sort," as you can judge for yourselves, copies of the catalogues to which he refers being mailed you under separate cover. Yours very truly,

THE UNION LIBRARY ASSOCIATION.

[It is not clear to us in what way an opinion formed of the books in the catalogues sent to us by the Union Library Association can invalidate the criticism of the books on the lists seen by Mr. Clarke, inasmuch as the lists are not identical. In fact the Union Library Association distinctly says "needless to say the list sent him [Mr. Clarke's supposed informant] is not the correct one." And yet, "Clarke's 'cat's-paw,'" as the Union Library Association delicately puts it, had no means of knowing that he was being led astray, because the Union Library Association distinctly assured its correspondent, in the letter dated February 21, 1898: "We presume you wish this list for some special purpose and that you have no idea of ordering the books; at the same time, you are welcome to the list if it satisfies your curiosity, or if you are a dealer and wish to know whether the books could actually be supplied for the low sum named." We have reason to believe that Mr. Clarke, who has for many years enjoyed the reputation of being one of the foremost booksellers of Boston, obtained his information legitimately, and is above employing "under-handed schemes." If the information investigated by him was meant to be misleading, we do not understand why Mr. Clarke should be called names for expressing his opinion of the evidence before him.—
ED. P. W.]

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

ROBERT BARR, the novelist, has just landed in this country. His plans have not yet been made public.

It is reported that Emile Zola is to come to America for a lecture tour as soon as he shall be permitted to do so by certain complications in which he is involved in France. Edmund Gerson, of New York it is said will be his manager. Mr. Gerson has translated several of his books. Zola has been permitted to take an appeal from his conviction, and the time of his visit to America will depend upon the result.

THE birthday of Henrik Ibsen was celebrated in Christiania, Norway, on Monday, March 21, with great festivities. Ibsen was born at Skien, a small town on the coast of Norway, in 1828. At sixteen he became a druggist and later studied medicine. But his tastes were literary, and in 1851 Ole Bull, the violinist, appointed him director of the National Theatre at Bergen, where he began to work for dramatic fame. He has lived in Christiania, Rome, Ischia, Dresden, and Munich, and has written a new play about every second year. King Oscar telegraphed the poet and dramatist: "I and the queen send you our cordial congratulations on your 70th birthday. Your day of honor is likewise a day of honor for the Norwegian people."

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

Peterson's Magazine, one of the oldest monthly periodicals in the country, has been purchased by Frank A. Munsey, and will be published hereafter from his New York office.

The Parisian for April contains a study of Gabriele d'Annunzio, by the veteran critic Gaston Deschamps. The Deutsche Rundschau has recently published a critical article on d'Annunzio, by Lady Blennerhasset, which is particularly severe toward the poet-novelist.

The New England Magazine for April opens with an article on the famous wood engraver William James Linton, who recently died at New Haven. The author, Mr. Burton J. Hendrick, is himself a resident of New Haven to whom Linton was long a familiar figure. The story of his life is supplemented with reproductions from many of Linton's best-known engravings, together with views of his home in New Haven and two portraits.

UNDER the caption of "The Literary Movement in Germany," John G. Robertson devotes some space, in the March Cosmopolis, to a survey of contemporary German fiction. Other interesting features of this issue of Cosmopolis are Samuel Taylor Coleridge's "Notes on Flögel's History of Comic Literature," edited by H. Buxton Forman, and a long poem by George Meredith, entitled "Revolution"—the first of his Odes in Contribution to the Song of French History.

THE Philadelphia Saturday Evening Post, one of the oldest weekly journals in this country, has recently been purchased by Cyrus H. K. Curtis, publisher of the Ladies' Home Journal. William G. Jordan, formerly of Book Chat and Current Literature, and during the past year managing editor of the Ladies' Home Journal, has been placed in charge of the Post, which promises well for its future. Mr. Jordan proposes to conduct the paper on partly original and partly eclectic lines, which will enable him to draw upon the best in literature and art in America and England. The office of publication is on Arch, near Fifth Street, Philadelphia.

OBITUARY NOTES.

JAMES PAYN, the well-known editor of Chambers' Journal and the Cornhill Magazine, and a novelist of recognized standing, died on Friday, March 25. James Payn was born at Cheltenham, England, on February 8, 1835, and was educated at Eton, Woolwich Academy, and Trinity College, Cambridge. Among his best-known books are "The Family Scapgrace," "Married Beneath Him," "Found Dead," "A Perfect Treasure," "Like Father, Like Son," "A Woman's Vengeance," "The Best of Husbands," "Two Hundred Pounds Reward," "For Cash Only," "Thicker Than Water," "The Luck of the Darrells," "A Prince of the Blood," etc.

ABNER CHENEY GOODELL died at his home, in Highland Street, Boston, on Sunday, March 27, at the age of ninety-three. His life was full of remarkable achievements. He was born in North Orange, Mass., on February 9, 1805. He was of an inventive turn of mind, and perfected the first printing-press that printed on both sides in one operation. His inventions in this line became the foundation of the present Hoe press. He also perfected the preparation of copper and steel plates for use by engravers, and in this line of work he was highly successful.

PROF. HENRY ALLYN FRINK, of the department of logic, rhetoric, and public speaking, at Amherst College, died at Amherst, Mass., on Friday, March 25, of heart failure. He had been at Amherst since 1885. Prior to that time he had been for many years connected with Hamilton College, Clinton, N. Y. He was graduated from Hamilton in 1870 at the head of his class, and for the next two years studied theology at Union Seminary. He was licensed as a preacher in 1877. Professor Frink was the author, in collaboration with Prof. Austin Phelps, of "Rhetoric: Its Theory and Practice." He also prepared "The Century Speaker," a collection of orations, which is to be published in April.

HANS WACHENHUSEN, the German novelist, died in Marburg, Prussia, March 23. He was born in Trieste, December 31, 1827. His varied experiences as war correspondent furnished him with matter for a number of military works, including "From Widdin to Constantinople," "A Visit to the Turkish Camp," "The New Paris," "Under the White Eagle," "Behind the Intrenchments of Düppel," "Volunteers and Royalists," etc. He was also the author of "The Women of the Third Empire," "The Golgotha of the Heart," "The Vampire," "Young Girl," "Yellow Rose," "The Count Betsany," "The Wife's Secret," "History of a Beauty," "Satan's Gold," and "Sacrificed."

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

A. & C. BLACK, pending the publication of the 10th edition, in 1901, of the "Encyclopædia Britannica," have made arrangements to reprint the last (the 9th) edition of the work, which will be published at less than half the former price.

IN our spring announcement classified list (March 12), under the heading Poetry and Drama, "Heartsease and Other Verses," published by the Burrows Brothers Company, was erroneously entered as "Hearthstone and Other Verses."

THE announcement that Anthony Hope's novel, "Rupert of Hentzau," now running in McClure's Magazine, is soon to appear in book form is an error. It cannot so appear until it has been concluded in McClure's, and this will not be until midsummer at least.

E. R. HERRICK & CO. will publish shortly a book of short stories, entitled "A Little Lady, Myself, and Other Stories," by Thomas W. Hall, popularly known as "Tom Hall." They expect to publish in June another volume of short fiction by the same author.

THE book business of the late L. Conquet, of Paris, has been purchased by Léopold Carteret, who will continue it under the firm-name of "L'Ancienne Librairie L. Conquet. Léopold Carteret et Cie. successeur." Cartaret is well known to the constituency of the firm, and to the habitués of Druot's, having been Conquet's right-hand man for over ten years.

THE HON. WM. A. WILDE, the well-known publisher of Boston, accompanied by Mrs. Wilde and her sister, Miss Hoyt, sailed from New York on Saturday, March 26, on the Fulda for Italy. The party will journey leisurely northward through Italy, France, and Germany for health and pleasure, but especially to give Mr. Wilde the benefit of the waters at the German health resorts. Miss Hoyt, who is the author of "Historic Schools of Painting," is gathering material for a new volume.

A CHICAGO department store announces the purchase of 250,000 volumes comprising the entire stock of the Weeks Publishing Co., successors to E. A. Weeks & Co., of Chicago, who failed in 1897; the entire stock of the Home Book Co.; a large portion of the miscellaneous books of Merrill & Baker, who have decided to drop everything except their subscription-book business; "the cream" of the stock of the Cassell Publishing Co., who are retiring from business; and a large portion of the receivers' stock of the American Publishers Corporation. All are to be sold at "one-quarter value." "Sic transit gloria mundi." MARLIER, CALLANAN & CO., the Catholic publishers, of Boston, Mass. (successors to Thomas B. Noonan & Co.), announce a work on "Clerical Studies," by Very Rev. John Hogan, S.S., D.D., president of St. John's Ecclesiastical Seminary, Boston. It is a summary of a series of articles contributed by the author to the American Ecclesiastical Review. The fourth centenary of the death of Fra Girolamo Savonarola, the great Dominican monk, reformer, and patriot, of Florence, is the occasion for a sketch, biographical and critical, from the pen of Rev. J. L. O'Neil, of the same order, which will be published by Marlier, Callanan & Co., about the middle of May.

AMONG the choice Easter books published this year by The Taber-Prang Art Company are: "Easter Lilies," bright with life-like groups of this favorite flower treated in a most artistic manner; "Spring's First Message," which shows brilliant cressces in gold and violet on the cover plate, with further pictures and quotations from the poets on these beautiful spring flowers on the succeeding plates; "A Dream of Violets," by Bessie Gray, an Easter poem, and in its charming setting of violets all that its name implies; "Lilies of Peace," a tender poem for Eastertide, by Bessie Gray, most fittingly illustrated by the author with original designs of lilies-of-the-valley, with a cover ornamented with a bunch of lilies-of-the-valley, relieved against which is a circular medallion bearing the figure of a flying dove; and "Firstlings of the New-born Year," an artistic arrangement of violets, with white and gold decorations. While the confusion incident to the consolidation of these two noted companies, The Taber Art Company and L. Prang & Co., has, in a measure, restricted the line for this season, it has in nowise interfered with the high artistic excellence which these firms have always maintained. This strictly American line has a beauty and distinctiveness all its own which appeals irresistibly to all lovers of the beautiful.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted," subscribers only are entitled to a free insertion of five lines for books out of print, exclusive of address (in any issue except special numbers), to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents per line, and amount should be enclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents per line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents per line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

Under the heading "Situations Wanted," subscribers are entitled to one free insertion of five lines. For repeated matter and advertisements of non-subscribers the charge is 10 cents per line.

All other small advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents per line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their communications.

Parties desiring to receive answers to their advertisements through this office must either call for them or enclose postage stamps with their orders for the insertion of such advertisements. In all cases we must have the full address of advertisers as a guarantee of good faith.

BOOKS WANTED.

In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges.

Houses that are willing to deal only on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash].

Write your wants plainly and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly," does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay," booksellers should take the usual precaution, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

WRITE FOR PARTICULARS

A BEAUTIFUL POSTER, in five colors, will be sent to any bookseller who orders five or more copies of "Love-Letters"; the most talked-of and rapidly-selling book out at the present time. The Posters increase the demand for it.

Leading newspapers of the country have flattering things to say of "Love-Letters."

"A very pretty romance."—Kansas City (Mo.) Mail.
 "A bright and vivacious story."—Detroit Free Press.
 "Touches of keen wit enliven the pages."—Denver (Colo.) The Rocky Mountain News.
 "People will find in it some very absorbing reading."—Boston Globe.
 "As pretty and bright a volume as has come out this season."—Albany (N. Y.) Times-Union.
 "Mr. Vynne's love-story is modern, flippant, and entertaining. . . . 'Love-Letters' is well worth reading."—New York Musical Courier.
 "A beautiful little 19th century love-story, . . . very deftly put together and captivating in style."—Adrian (Mich.) Evening Telegram.
 "In 'Love-Letters' Mr. Harold R. Vynne has treated an old subject in a new and interesting way, . . . the book is very enjoyable."—New York Criterion.
 ". . . Entertaining and smart book. . . . Mr. Vynne's excuse for anything as old-fashioned as letters, is that they are bright, and show some knowledge of human nature."—JESSIE WOOD, in New York Journal.

"In 'Love-Letters,' a dainty blue and gold volume, Harold R. Vynne has told a pretty love-story in epistolary form. It is always difficult to write interestingly in this fashion, and Mr. Vynne deserves great credit for his success."—New York World.

"His virile romance is wittily, pungently written, and is intimately, heartily real in a way to win all hearts. It is a gem in its way and is fragrant with the fruit of love's wholeness. It is eccentrically illustrated with Cupids and is bound into the dainty form characteristic of Zimmerman's Pocket Library. Its cover is of expressive blue and gold."—Boston Ideas.
